ENGLAND

London is one of the world's most popular tourist destinations, with a plethora of well-known tourist attractions. In 2018, the city had 20 million international tourists, making it one of the most visited cities in the world. The London Eye is a massive Ferris wheel built on the banks of the Thames. It stands 135 metres tall and has a 120-metre diameter. The London Aquarium, Big Ben, the Houses of Parliament, Westminster Abbey, and Nelson's Column are all nearby. The Shard, London's tallest building, introduced a public observation deck in 2013. Other significant tourist sites in London include the Tower of London, Buckingham Palace (which is only available to the public for a few months each summer), Tower Bridge Experience, Madame Tussauds, ZSL London Zoo, London Dungeon, and St Paul's Cathedral.

SCOTLAND

SCOTLAND

Scotland's capital is one of Europe's most distinctive and remarkable cities. Edinburgh has a unique beauty due to its small and cobblestone alleys known as shuts in Scots. The town is also recognized for its frightening corners, gorgeous buildings and gardens, innumerable intriguing museums that are free to explore, and, most importantly, the city's friendly and open residents. All of the aforementioned factors combine to make this city a favourite among those who have visited it.

Edinburgh is locally referred to as "Auld Reekie", which translates to "Old Smokey" in Scots. This is due to the city's previous usage of smoke and chimneys, which created pollution above the city.

In addition to innumerable ghost stories, Edinburgh provides visitors and locals with a wide range of activities, including museums, the most of which are free. Tourists may also visit a whiskey distillery and learn how Scotland's national drink is manufactured at the Scotch Whisky Experience, as well as study how the Scottish people lived throughout the Middle Ages at the People's Story Museum and explore the development of medicine at the Surgeon's Hall Museums.

With our help, you'll understand why Edinburgh is the UK's second most visited city after London.

Over two million people visit Scotland's capital city each year.
